Pensioners protest in wheelie bin backlash

A GREY power revolt is attempting to overturn the decision to scrap weekly bin collections in Harlow.

Harlow Pensioners' Action Association and Age Concern Harlow have started a petition to put pressure on councillors to rethink the controversial move.

They claim older people will have problems manoeuvring wheeled bins which the council intends to issue households.

HPAA chairman Les Coben said people were already signing the peti- continued on page 5

Road race champs are the Smartest way into motoring history by winning the European Cannonball Run - in a Smart car.

The 700cc two-seater driven by David Ward (46), of Simplicity Lane on Harlow's Newhall estate, and Adrian Hull, of Hemnall Street, Epping, joined a line-up of high-powered supercars including Ferraris, Aston Martins and Lamborghinis.

But Mr Ward and Mr Hull were crowned champions because they were the first competitors in the history of the event to aver-

Mr Ward, an estate agent who raised £1,500 in sponsorship for the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, said: "I chose to use a Smart car simply because it made the challenge much more difficult and it added a novelty factor."

The race, which originated in the early 1970s in America, was the idea of Car and

The race finished in Brighton where Mr

Ward and Mr Hull were presented with the winner's trophy at a gala dinner.

Mr Ward, who is already looking forward to next year's race for which he has gained free entry, added: "I wanted to do the race for the history that is behind it and for the Missing man's body is found

By JIM TANFIELD tanfieldj@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE body of a traveller missing for five weeks was discovered by his partner in the middle of a Harlow roundabout.

Albert Smith (36) was found in undergrowth on the Flex Meadow/Pinnacles roundabout on Friday morning. He had been missing from the Elizabeth Way travellers' site since June 14.

An eyewitness, who did not wish to be named, told the Star she was driving to work at the Flex Meadow Tesco distribution depot, in Pinnacles, when she saw a woman in a tracksuit running into the road.

"I thought she was a jogger but then she started screaming," she said. "She was running all over the place saying she had found the body of her husband in the undergrowth on the roundabout.

"I stopped the car and got out to speak to her and calm her down but I speak to her and cann her down but just couldn't get close to her as she was running all over the place screaming her head off.

Police initially treated the location as a crime scene until preliminary results of a post mortem examination this week indicated no foul play and suggested the cause of death was due to suspension.

Smith has been formally identified and an inquest was opened and adjourned yesterday (Wednesday).

Bypass a step closer

PLANS for a Harlow bypass linking the M11 with the A414 have taken a step closer following talks between the minister for transport and MP Bill Rammell.

Rosie Winterton met with Mr Rammell last week to discuss the proposals and hinted that the new road could potentially be paid for from the town's regional funding allowance, due for review this summer.

She also made clear her intention to visit Harlow to discuss the need for a bypass and other transport improvements in greater detail.

Mr Rammell said the talks showed progress was being made and pledged to spearhead a campaign to lobby the Government to include the proposals as part of the Fresh woe in council crisis

CRISIS-hit Harlow Council was this By JIM TANFIELD week embroiled in a fresh web of controversy concerning broken agreements, huge debts and squandered resources as it faces the possibility of ending up £10m in the red by the end of the year.

Firstly, it was accused of concealing the true proceeds of a land sale, which was supposed to pay to renovate a community centre, after councillors admitted on Thursday the council had pocketed almost £370,000 more than it had first let on.

Then the authority was found to have spent thousands of pounds on a bridge which was never built and had overspent on closing the First Avenue swimming pool to the tune of more than

And on Tuesday, former properties contractor Quill Construction claimed it is owed more than £60,000 by the authority as part of a larger debt in excess of £230,000 shared with Kier Harlow, for work done more than a year ago.

Policy and resources chairman Simon Carter (Conservative) revealed on Thursday that a total of £716,856 was made from the sale of land at Maunds Hatch - despite the council previously claiming it realised only £350,000.

The proceeds of the sale were supposed to fund a major refurbishment of Maunds Hatch commutanfieldi@hertsessexnews.co.uk nity centre but were eventually spent elsewhere. Now Berecroft Residents Association chairman Zulqar Cheema is calling for council chief executive Malcolm Morley to resign over the fiasco. Mr Carter's admission comes as the Star discovered £16,000 was spent on Velizy Bridge, work on which was never started, for "abortive engineering costs". The council refused to reveal which company got the windfall.

It also overspent by £101,000 when it shut Harlow Pool last autumn, including a shortfall of £16,000 for energy bills alone. The council declined to elaborate on the figures.

Commenting on the overall financial crisis, TaxPayers' Alliance chief executive Matthew Elliott this week accused the authority of taking taxpayers' money for granted and said the situa-tion showed a serious lack of financial control.

"Council tax has soared in recent years and, with the credit crunch hitting everyone in the pocket, they have got to realise that every penny counts," he said.

● THE number of residents complaining about Harlow Council has fallen by one. The lastest Local Government Ombudsman figures show 22 complaints during 2007-08, compared with 23 in the previous year. More than half were about

Help to raise a wedge of cash for kids charity

NEVER mind The Open, Harlow is to stage its own grand golf tournament with all proceeds donated to a worthy cause.

Harlow Council chairman Tony Hall hopes to raise at least £10,000 for his nominated charity, Child Victims of Crime, from the event which takes place at Nazeing Golf Club on September 12.

The day includes an afternoon of golf, with tee-offs set at eight-minute intervals, followed in the evening by a meal, presentation and auction of donated lots.

Mr Hall, a retired policeman who joined the Essex force in 1964 and was posted to Harlow in 1968, chose CVOC as his charity for the year because its work reflects his personal experiences.

Founded originally by the British Police Rugby Team, it raises money to fund treats for children who have been targeted by criminals or caught up in criminal acts. In some cases it also pays for counselling.

The youngsters it helps are referred by serving police officers.

Mr Hall said: "Officers have told how it can transform the trauma of being a victim into the joy of receiving a gift. We might take such things for granted but for some children this is an experience they may have never known before." He added: "I cannot tell you the

He added: "I cannot tell you the scars officers carry when, as I frequently did, they deal with families with children whose lives are left in shreds by a drink-driver or a crime perpetrated by someone close to them.

"By helping with this charity you will help the child victims by turning nightmares into dreams come true."

People and businesses can support the cause by entering a team for the tournament, sponsoring a hole or donating a raffle prize. For more details call Sue Felgate on (01279) 446001.

BÉN WILKINSON

T may be a picture of financial gloom at Harlow Council now, but back in the heady boom days of, oh, 2007, things were so different.

Our leaders, you may recall, even managed to find £80,000 down the back of a filing cabinet to fund a new corporate identity, comprising some wavy lines and (as typography nerds will recognise) modern-looking Century Gothic lettering.

The council's old emblem, which this replaced, featured the image of a dove which got us wondering: how did the pigeon of peace come to be associated with our town in the first place?

The answer lies 25 years ago this month, when the Cold War was in full swing, Mrs Thatcher had just been reelected and the Government was busy stockpiling its own atomic arsenal while simultaneously advising people to stay safe in the event of a nuclear attack by barricading their windows and hiding under the dining table.

In Harlow, like many places with Labour councils, there was a backlash.

The town had already declared itself a 'nuclear free zone', meaning Mr Andropov was strictly forbidden from pointing his missiles anywhere near us. And by July 1983, the councillors in charge wanted to send an even stronger message of protest against nuclear proliferation.

The result was the Harlow Peace Festival. Commencing with the Kumanrun, a "strictly non-competitive" (of course) 3½mile jog from Latton Common to the Town Park, the day also included a banner parade and pageant, a music concert and an exhibition of pacifist posters. It was blessed with beautiful sunshine.

So what about the dove? As organiser, the council drew attention to the festival by amending its logo as shown here.

And the symbol stuck, even surviving into a revised logo introduced in the mid 1990s.

Come 2007, with the Cold War but a distant memory and socialism deemed more than a little passé by Labour, the theme of peace had, in the minds of council members, obviously run its course. Wavy lines though? They're the Legion's Les is 'a force to be reckoned with'

A STALWART of the Royal British Legion has been presented with a civic award by the chairman of Harlow Council

Second World War veteran Leslie Pearce (90) received his framed certificate and presentation document from councillor Tony Hall on Thursday.

A resident of Harlow since 1954, Mr Pearce served in Egypt, Palestine, Cyprus, Sudan, Iraq and India.

Since the early 1980s he has played a key role in the town's branch of the RBL, helping to raise the profile of the Poppy Appeal and organising the annual Service of Remembrance

Mr Pearce's award was proposed by councillor Patrick McClarnon who read his citation.

"In his service for the Legion, Les has given his all, begging, borrowing, cajoling and pleading for the RBL cause," said Mr McClarnon. "He is a force to be reckoned with and, when it comes to promoting the Legion, many a council chairman has quaked at the sound of his approach!

"Despite ill health Les continues to work for the Legion and remains cheerful, despite considerable discomfort."

Typist loses RSI damages claim

AN office worker who blamed excessive typing for a disabling repetitive strain injury has lost a High Court bid for compensation.

Leah Groves (27), of Radburn Close, Harlow, argued that her former employer, Pitney Bowes, had failed to adequately protect her from typing-

But her claim was dismissed after a judge ruled the company had not breached its duty of care towards Miss

During the three-day hearing lawyers for Miss Groves said she developed repetitive strain injury after typing for more than 70 per cent of her working day. It left her with pain in her wrists, rendering her unable to work in her job and hindering her employment potential elsewhere.

Barrister James Hogg said she developed the pain in 2003 while working as a fleet co-ordinator and it continued on and off throughout the following year. In January 2005 was taking off work.

Miss Groves was seeking more than £30,000 in damages, claming the firm failed to inform her of the risk of typing for such a long time, failed to provide her with adequate breaks and failed to perform a suitable analysis of her work station.

She also claimed that a change to the database system in the summer of 2003 resulted in a sharp increase to her typing workload.

However, Judge Philip Mott ruled Pitney Bowes was not liable for her ailment and that doctors who examined Miss Groves found she had hypermobility in her joints, which meant she was more susceptible to pain than most people.

He added that her former employer could not have been expected to know this and while Miss Groves did a lot of typing, it was no more than was reasonable.

He also said her love for horse riding and two car accidents may have exacerbated the problems with her wrists.

Taxi drivers fear consequences of roof lights ruling

CLAIMS by Hackney carriage drivers that a decision to make pre-booked minicabs display roof lights will increase the risk of violence outside Harlow's nightspots have been dismissed as "rubbish".

Last week members of Harlow Council's environment and community committee put the final touches to the regulation which makes it a requirement for minicabs to install the illuminated signs.

The lights will be turned on whether or not a passenger is on board and customers will still have to call the cab office to book a vehicle.

But the move has angered some of the town's 73 Hackney carriage drivers, the only ones licensed to pick up passengers who have not pre-booked. They claim the signs will confuse people and spark trou-

Taxi driver Angus Marsh said: "The Taxt driver Angus Marsh said: The violence is bad enough in town on Friday and Saturday nights without people fighting for cabs they think are free for hire." Referring to an incident earlier this year when a man died following a confrontation at a cab rank near Quattroz nightclub, Mr Marsh said: "The death was not a one-off moment of violence; people are fighting over cabs all the

Mr Marsh also feared the lights would be a threat to the Hackney carriage trade, a concern shared by fellow taxi driver Andy Ashton who said: "Not only do we think this is not in the interests of public safety, it will allow the private hire drivers to cherry-pick the best customers as

But Steve Ponton, manager of private hire firm A-Bee Cars, said: "What a load of rubbish. Having the light on the car will make it a lot safer.

"If we pull up to a housing estate, for example, our passenger will see that it is their cab turning up among all the other cars parked along the road. It will stop them getting in one they haven't booked." Harlow Council this week stood by the decision, insisting the lights will make it safer because people will be able to identify a licensed minicab from unlicensed vehicles.

HARLOW Hotspots gives the people of Harlow the chance to make the town a better place in which to live and work

The Star is teaming up with Harlow Renaissance, Harlow Council and Essex County Council to find a project which will benefit the community and enhance the local environment.

We want community groups, societies, tenant associations and charity or voluntary organisations to nominate a project which they would like to undertake and which will benefit both their group and the wider community.

Examples of projects that would be considered suitable as a Harlow Hotspot are:

- creating a sensory garden
- designing and creating a sculpture made from local natural
- enhancing a favourite area (eg placing benches at a scenic area)
- clearing up a natural beauty spot ocreating a small wildlife area

SPOT: Cook's

Spinney Wood, near The Stow, was one of two winning projects in the 2007 competition. Pictured are Maura Wright, who nominated the project, and Andrew Tomlius who created the hand-carved wooden signs which now adorn the site

These are just a few suggestions but we really want to hear your ideas. Remember, the project must benefit both your group and the wider community, so the area you would like to see enhanced must be accessible to the public. Unlike last year we will not be considering projects nominated by individuals. The closing date for entries is Thursday, August 14. Entries will then be whittled down to a shortlist of three finalists and there will then be a chance to vote for your favourite on the Harlow

Star website or at Harlov

Renaissance's marquee at the Harlow Town Show on August 31.

To suggest a project, follow the Harlow Hotspots link on the Harlow Star website at www.harlowstar.co.uk or the Harlow Renaissance website at www.harlowrenaissance.co.uk. Fill in www.harlowrenaissance.co.uk. Fill in the entry form and then send it, along with a photograph of the area in question, to Nicola Bowland, Harlow Renaissance, 5 Mitre Buildings, Harlow CM20 1DR. Alternatively, you can telephone (01279) 400683 to request a form by post. A full list of the terms and conditions appear on both websites.

flourishing once again near an island off the coast of Devon thanks to a five-year fishing ban.

Crabs, lobsters and fish living in the waters around Lundy were protected following concerns that the number of sea creatures and other wildlife in the area was falling rapidly.

There are now seven times more lobsters within the protection zone than there were before the ban, proving it has been a great

Scientists now hope the growing numbers of animals will eventually spill out into the surrounding sea and help replenish depleted fish

That would be very good news for fishermen and creatures like seals which rely on fish for food.

Lundy Island is situated 12 miles north of the Devon coast and is England's only marine nature reserve. Conservationists now hope that its success will lead to many more being created.

Cigarette fire fumes killed drunken man

A 51-YEAR-OLD divorcee died of carbon monoxide poisoning after a carelessly discarded cigarette set light to his sofa, an inquest heard.

Chelmsford Coroner's Court ruled that Albert O'Sullivan, of Bodley Close, Epping, died as the result of an accident on January 19 this year.

The inquest heard Mr O'Sullivan, who had a history of alcoholism, was seen by neighbours staggering home on the evening of January 18. He was so drunk he initially tried to open his neighbour's front door thinking it was his own.

Later that night, neighbours saw smoke coming from his house and contacted the emergency

Assistant divisional officer Jon Payne, of Essex Fire Service, attended the scene and told the inquest Mr O'Sullivan was found slumped and unconscious in his living room while a slowburning fire smouldered on the

"Upon investigation of the scene, it became clear that the origin of the fire was on the sofa and it appeared to have been started by carelessly discarded or unattended smoking materials,' he said. "There was nothing suspicious found at the scene." Mr O'Sullivan was given CPR and taken to Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital, but died the next day. A toxicology report found a carboxyhaemoglobin level of 49 per cent – three times that of a heavy smoker.

Knife screening on the railways

By LOUISE SASSOON News Editor

sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

DOZENS of commuters were screened at Harlow's two railway stations in an operation to crackdown on knife crime.

Essex Police, British Transport Police and revenue inspectors manned portable metal detection arches at Harlow Mill and Harlow Town stations on Friday and Saturday evening. They also searched for drugs and checked passengers had valid tickets.

Three people were arrested for drugs offences and another for a weapons offence after being found in possession of a knuckleduster. Nobody was found to be carrying a knife. A further 10 people were found carrying cannabis and 13 fines were handed out for offences ranging from trespass to public disorder.

Operation Effective covered four other areas in Essex and was conducted in the same week Harlow's crime rate was shown to have fallen by 25 per cent since 2005.

The latest Home Office statistics show reports of so-

The latest Home Office statistics show reports of so-called priority crimes – offences which are said to affect most people – are down by 25 per cent, with the most dramatic reductions including domestic burglary down by 39 per cent, criminal damage down by 34 per cent and pick-pocketing down by 62 per cent. Despite a 24 per cent increase in assaults without injury and rises in vehicle interference and robberies, total crime reduction still exceeds the Government's target of 18.5 per cent for the period.

Harlow Council is a member of the Safer Harlow Partnership and leader Andrew Johnson said the fact that nobody had been found with a knife was positive and coupled with the Home Office figures, indicated the town is winning the fight against crime.

Labour shows solidarity with workers' strike

THE opposition Labour group boycotted a full Harlow Council meeting on Thursday in a show of solidarity for striking workers.

All six Labour councillors decided not to attend because the meeting fell on the second day of a two-day pay protest by council staff in Unison.

The absence overshadowed new council leader Andrew Johnson's 'state of the town' speech and the debate which followed, and also meant plans to appoint Labour members to two committees had to be postponed.

About 100 members of Harlow Unison joined the national strike last Wednesday and Thursday in protest at a 2.45 per cent pay offer. Unison wants six per cent or 50p an hour extra, whichever is greater.

Occasio tenants deserve a chance

SIR, I live in Occasio House; although people disrespect this place for all the bad things they may have heard about it, I am determined to put them right about it all. At the end of the day, Occasio House is here for residents from the age of 16-25. They may be here for certain reasons and backgrounds. There may be some drugs raids here but not all residents are on drugs. The foyer does offer support to the ones, if they need help then they need to ask for it. The Foyer only helps those who accept they need help and are open to accept it and follow the procedures for whatever is necessary.

Like I said I am a resident in Occasio House and I am proud to admit it because at the end of the day – yes, I may be young and living on my own – I am here to show the world that young residents can live on their own and show the world that today's youth isn't just high on drugs or alcoholics or whatever you have heard.

Some residents are (un)lucky when it comes to looking for jobs, they take one look at the address and get rid of the CV or application form just because we live here. I have a question I would like to ask all employers who are not open-minded like some that I who are not open-influed like some that I know: why do you discriminate against Occasio House? What have residents done to deserve it? Nothing, that's what.

So, whatever you may have heard about Occasio House, or the residents, or anything, put that to the back of your mind and give the residents a chance to prove themselves to you – they may be what you need in the job.

Kelcie Nairne

Occasio House, Playhouse Square, Harlow

SIR, You report (Star, July 10) that someone in Occasio House threw a fire extinguisher from a "window several floors up (which) crashed on to the pavement".

And what is the response from the operating company, East Potential? They say that if they identify the culprit they will make him "aware of the potential risks". Breathtaking, isn't it?

I don't know who is worse, the idiot who might have killed someone or the East Potential spokesperson who seems not to know the telephone number of Harlow Police Station.

Dr R. Aldridge-Morris Old Orchard, Harlov

A share of blame

SIR, Although I agree wholeheartedly with the Tory party for checking the books before

The big recycling rip-off old but I don't think I am yet confused. However, it does seem to me that. nationally, we talk a lot of rubbish.

There is a late 17th century proverbial saying 'Where there's muck there's money'. This is, of course, still true but it seems to me that we, the domestic householders and generators of 'muck' have had the little income from this stolen from us. Not only are we ordered to give the local authority our waste gratis, we are threatened with a penalty if we fail to sort it as directed.

When I was a child, the rag and bone man and the old iron man used to tour the streets on a regular basis in their horse-drawn carts. Upon hearing their calls, householder waste donors would hail the man who would weigh the rags using spring hand scales, count the bottles and weigh the bones, Metal would be weighed on balance scales at the rear of the cart. The cash settlement would be paid to the householder immediately.

In the 1960s, when my wife and I ran the newsagents shop in The Hoo, pictured above, we sold our non-returnable magazines and newspapers by weight to a paper mill which collected these each month, together with old papers returned to us by customers, at our invitation, for the purpose of giving pensioners money off the actual cost of their papers. This scheme received acclaim from national newspapers and radio.

Oh, boy, are we being taken for a ride!

Nowadays, supermarkets install expensive receptacles for we suckers to stand in line, whatever the weather, and insert our 'muck' one piece at a time. They give us a pittance in the guise of loyalty points to be spent only in their store.

All this begs the questions, how much do they receive for this ready-sorted material? And how much does our local authority earn out of the lucrative enterprise that, these days, we know as recycling? Bernie Walker taking on the new challenge of running Harlow Council, they must spare a thought that they had played a part in the £1.8m black hole.

It was a Tory/Liberal Democrat council that shut down most of the play areas, paddling pools and services, only they didn't agree with each other so the Tory party pulled out of the coalition, allowing Labour in again and a joint Lib Dem/Labour council was born and Harlow's bankruptcy began. Services were cut, blaming the Tory party. Budgets from leisure, gardening and maintenance were raided for trips to Holland, Belgium, France and Luxembourg to find how they build houses so cheap, only to apply a building strategy that was outlawed in 1977 by the European Commission!

Kier were hired as scapegoats for loss of revenue, bearing in mind the Lib Dems like to spend money on play areas in Briars, a tennis court in Berecroft that's been flattened for years, the Labour Party has spent £86,000 on resurfacing Edinburgh Way four times and an extensive tax-dodging exercise of selling off the swimming pool and land before it fell to pieces, Northbrooks House, Netteswell House, for extra pennies before anyone found out about their overspending on trivia like four new logos and what colour to paint the foyer in Civic Centre.

In a spin, they spent £18,000 on a worthless Town Show and £38,000 on a firework display in 2007, even though they did a survey at a cost of £87,000 to find out if Harlow residents wanted them, or services, and then tried to sell the park to a developer. Since the Tories have taken over it seems to be getting better; I hope they will cut the council tax bill, improve services and say 'No' to the Government like they told my family and neighbours for our vote

Bin change anger

SIR, Once again, Harlow Council and the councillors are making decisions on behalf of the residents of Harlow, ie, the change in rubbish collections, without any consultation with the people it will effect most.

When Harlow was first planned it was a priority that all the open spaces should be maintained, no front fences and no unsightly dustbins outside front doors; in fact, houses were built with purpose-made dustbin cupboards. Now we are going to have large bins placed outside our front doors as most of the housing stock in Harlow is terraced properties, so it will be impracticable to drag these bins through the house into the rear garden and for elderly people living with steps up to their front door impossible.

The vast majority of Harlow residents are happy with the rubbish collections since it was put in the hands of the private contractors - we even have a collection at Christmas, which we did not get with the direct labour force.

As a lot of roads in Harlow are very narrow, under the new proposed scheme the dustcart will have to wait in the road while two wheelie bins are hooked up to it to be emptied, causing congestion on our already crowded roads.

Have the council considered the implications of fortnightly collections as some councils are abandoning the idea because of the problems it causes?

Harry Harrison, Chairman Great Parndon Residents Association Cock Green, Harlow

SIR. We've bin 'ad! I've searched in vain in the Government election manifesto for last May, or in Robert Halfon's statements for any promise of fortnightly refuse collections or wheeled bins.

Surely in such an important matter that affects every resident – and the appearance of every street – we the voters, residents and council taxpayers, should be fully consulted?

The 19th Local Government Act enables local councils to have to have a referendum on important or contentious issues in their

I challenge the democratic credentials of the new administration to put this issue to the test of the public opinion by having a public

Ron Bill Upper Park, Harlow

SIR, I would like to point out to the ruling Conservative council that earlier this year vandals set light to a wheeled plastic bin outside a house that went up in very quick time. I am not sure if it cost a life or not, but at the time the fire brigade officer said placing this type of bin near a house was extremely dangerous.

I sincerely hope that the council looks very closely at this decision, and I hope we do not suffer loss of life through this decision.

Ron Smith

Great Plumtree, Harlow

SIR, I feel compelled to write in response to Councillor Johnson's statement that 'most people were happy with fortnightly refuse collections' (Star, July 17).

I am not happy, as I am sure many others are not. Once again, he has missed the point that most older properties in Harlow are not designed for wheelie bins. If they have to stand them on the pavement, buggies and wheelchair-users will be forced to walk in the road.

C.A. IIsher Foldcroft, Harlow

SIR, Of course we should shelve the weekly collections. This should encourage more people to recycle and reuse their waste.

The biggest complaint seems to be the smell; why would waste smell? The only way that rubbish would smell is if people are throwing food waste away, which begs the question why is food being thrown away when it costs so much and a 'credit crunch' is in the offing!

I have managed to reduce my waste to half a black bag every two weeks and, no, it doesn't smell. Waste management is what it's all about, not how often it's collected.

Maybe the council could provide compost bins as well as wheelie bins

Jennie Alford

Spencers Croft, Harlow

SIR, I read in disgust in the Star that the council were going to move across to fortnightly rubbish collection (their excuse being to increase recycling rates).

I am a great believer in recycling and I don't think the council is doing enough to enable/encourage this. I recently inquired with Harlow Council about certain items (yoghurt pots/butter tubs & plastic food trays) to be told "the market for plastics such as this is limited". It seems madness that Harlow Council cannot recycle these items, as it seems a lot of our waste is made up of this, when Epping Forest Council accepts them along with also recycling the plastic bags that vegetables, etc, come in!

Mark Sturman Blackbush Spring, Harlow

SIR, How many of the councillors that voted for fortnightly collections will have to display a two-week old stinking bin beside their front door?

Raymond Johnstone Hawkenbury, Harlow

SIR, Two wheelie bins for each house! Have the council really thought this through?

I thought the idea was to tidy up our town. I mough the lace was to duy up our town, not clutter it up with unsightly bins. As for public consultation — there hasn't been any as far as I know. I dread to think how much this will cost; has a figure been arrived at?

Lynn Lagdon Barn Mead, Harlow

A bus disservice

SIR, I have learnt there will no longer be a direct bus service between Harlow and Romford (Star, July 10). Why?

This service has always been popular, giving shoppers the chance to use more varied shops than we have in Harlow.

Also, how do we attend hospital appointments in Romford when we have no car's

Players have a very Shaw grip

WHAT a great day out it was to be so fully immersed ARMS AND THE MAN in the world of George Bernard Shaw.

Supporters of Moot House Players made the short journey to Shaw Corner, former home of playwright Shaw, just north of Welwyn, at Ayot St Lawrence.

They then returned to The Stow to join a packed audience to see one of Shaw's earliest plays, Arms And The Man, on Saturday. Director Rosemary Caswell's version of the military love story was a feast of 19th century costume, splendid sets and fine day and whether it was the number of times that you wash in a week or the folly of war, the cast were on top of the humour and satire.

Geoff Leeds starred as the reluctant Captain Bluntschi, who was definitely not too keen on warfare.

Shaw was an inveterate pacifist and modelled the captain on a close socialist friend. Hiding from the Russian troops, Bluntschi comes across the pretty Raina Petkoff, played with grace by Karen Clark.

Raina has to fight for her independence and rights as a woman, rejecting the dastardly Major played by Nathan Ryan. Poor Nathan had also to overcome one of the longest moustaches in dramatic history! The success of Moot House Players is due to the slick teamwork shown by all the actors and the excellent sound and lighting crew.

For a short trip to this intimate theatre with reasonable admission and drink prices. people in Harlow can really look forward to the new season starting in November. If you can't wait that long, there's always a trip to Shaw Corner and Pygmalion at the Old Vic!

IT was viva las Victoria Hall as those trying to save the community theatre held a Vegas-style fundraiser on Saturday.

While cocktail waiters mixed Cosmopolitans for the well-dressed high-rollers at the Bury Road theatre, full-sized gaming tables were groaning with chips. About £1,000 was raised towards buying the lease for the hall when Essex County Council sells it next year.

Chairman Paul Johnson said: "It was a great evening. Through this and the increased levels of support in attendance of performances and use of the building, we have a fund approaching £50,000, which is a fabulous achievement." certificate 12A, running time 2h 32m

THERE'S a little something of James Dean about Heath Ledger - talented, goodlooking and prematurely dead, with a huge posthumous film on release. This in itself is enough to pull in the audiences, but the fact that it's his careerdefining turn and he's being tipped for an Oscar makes it even more bitter-sweet.

It's a long time since Adam West capered around Gotham with his (cough, cough) friend Robin in the '60s kitsch comedy take on the comic character.

Ledger's appearance as The Joker, however, brings focus to the fact that the caped crusader's debut was in May 1939, when the world was in turmoil and the threat of terrifying vet human forces were at work.

The Joker is the personification of this threat, the antithesis of Wayne and the idyll of the irrational, a quality Ledger nails exactly – unpredictable yet pre-meditated, he's the murderous clown in every child's nightmare. Now the Gothic elements have been brought even more to the fore by director Christopher Nolan, dramatically out-trumping Tim Burton's 1989 effort.

Set within a year after the events of director Nolan's belting Batman Begins, Batman (Christian Bale), Lieutenant James Gordon (Gary Oldman) and new district attorney Harvey Dent (Aaron Eckhart) successfully begin to round up the criminals plaguing Gotham City.

But a major spanner in the works appears in the shape of the mysterious and sadistic criminal mastermind The Joker, creating a new wave of chaos.

Batman's struggle against the deranged psychopath becomes deeply personal, at a time when he's already floundering in the rather odd love triangle developing between his billionaire playboy alter ego Bruce Wayne, Dent and Rachel

Saving Earth's wasted future

certificate U, running time 1h 43m

NAUGHTY, wasteful humans have left the Earth in a right mess, jumping ship and leaving a doe-eyed robot to clean up – with, no doubt, oodles of WALLE merchandise among it.

merchandise among it.

The story of lonely, diminutive robot
WALL-E (short for Waste Allocation Load Lifter Earth-Class) – the last robot still operating on the planet after mankind upped sticks and fled –is one tale of robot love that is sure to pull on the heartstrings.
Quiety going about the business for which he was programmed – psking up which he was programmed – picking up rubbish and compacting it into cubes – his only solace is his vivid imagination, a cockroach friend and a battered video copy of Hello Dolly.

But when sleek female probe droid EVE arrives, the lonesome, misty-eyed automaton begins to bond with her and soon finds himself falling head over treads

When EVE discovers a small living plant which could be the last remnant of natural life on Earth, she is forced to take samples and return to her mothership, prompting lovesick WALL: E to follow and shifting the tender, slow-burning rom-com up a gear into a high-octane intergalactic race against oblivion.

Finding on board the self-indulgent, flabby descendents of the humans who abandoned him their devastated planet hundreds of years previously, he is inadvertently thrust into an heroic voyage with a band of malfunctioning, misfit machines which will ultimately decide the fate of mankind.

sound check with Chris Moss

UNABLE to decide between UNABLE to decide between greaseball proto-punk blues blowouts and sharp-suited, jaunty mod anthems, Sawbo's favourite sons sensibly opt for an improbable yet thrilling marriage of convenience. By turns hollerin' and a-wailin' neogarage soul a la Dirtbombs and punchy, spiky pop-punk with a knowing nod to the mighty modfather himself, this is either the sound of a confused band lacking focus or a bunch of talented focus or a bunch of talented musicians having a good time doing whatever the hell they want to. At just over a year old, the likelihood is that they're a bit of both, but who really cares when the fruits of their labours – the pitch-perfect Northern Soul of Better Way and the jaunty, Weller-esque social satire of Upper Class Wannabes – are this enjoyable?

CD reviews by Louise Sassoon

THE OTHER SIDE

Pendulum (single, Warner)

It's the late 70s, I'm four-years-old and I'm listening to Jeff Wayne's War Of The Worlds soundtrack and, frankly, I'm terrified. Visions of alien-driven machines crushing my beloved collection of Multi Coloured Swap Shop memorabilia fills my head, and this track brings it all back. Pendulum have crashing beats and fuzz box vocals and talk of – in a Vincent Price voice, if you will - 'the other side'. Cracking, futuristic stuff

JULIET OF THE SPIRITS

The B-52s (single, Astralwerks)

This is the best single off the latest album Funplex, but that's a bit like choosing your favourite form of torture – is it bamboo splinters driven under the fingernails or root canal work by a Nazi dentist? Really it's only the best on the album because that rapping eejit keeps his mouth shut throughout. This is apparently inspired by Fellini's film of the same name – start turning in your grave. Frederico.

MAMMA MIA! The story of a vacuous bride-to-be trying to find her real father in time for her big day, inexplicably told using hit songs by the insufferably kitsch '70s group ABBA.

KUNG FU PANDA Animated hi-jinx with Jack Black providing the voice of Po the panda, who must transform himself from an overweight, noodle-chomping cook to a master of martial arts in time to defend his townsfolk against the threat posed by lan McShane's sinister ninja tiger.

HANCOCK Will Smith is the booze-addled, down-and-out superhero who can never save lives without leaving a mess behind, until he decides to try to get his public image back into with the help of a grateful PR executive.

WANTED James McAvoy stars as an apathetic nobody whose life is transformed when he is recruited into a secret fraternity of assassins to avenge the death of his estranged father.

THE CHRONICLES OF NARNIA: PRINCE CASPIAN

The Pevensie siblings return to the magical land of Narnia, where they are enlisted to help ward off an evil king and restore the rightful heir to the throne of the realm, Prince Caspian, in this superior follow-up to The Lion, The Witch And The Wardrobe.

All dressed up and nowhere to jump

JUMPER

(20th Century Fox Home Entertainment, 15, retail & rental)

This slick but soulless sci-fi caper starts well enough but swiftly loses what slender charm it has when it becomes evident that director Doug Liman and his team fell in love with the idea of how cool it would be to be able to teleport but then couldn't think what to do with the gimmick.

Hayden Christensen is a 'jumper', a genetic freak with the ability to teleport in and out of bank vaults to fund a lavish lifestyle of living in New York, nights out in London, breakfast in Paris and elevenses atop The Sphinx's crumbling head.

It's amazing he manages to stay in such great movie shape, given his character's too idle to move three feet for the remote control when he can just teleport the distance.

But the brief honeymoon ends for him (and us) when he falls in love at about the same time a bunch of evangelical assassins led by a white-haired Samuel L Jackson show up on a mission to purge the world of such abominations and only a wildly over-acting Jamie Bell can help him keep all his plates spinning in the air.

THE MECHANIK

(DNC Entertainment, 15, retail & rental)

Always the poor man's Schwarzenegger, hulking Dolph Lundgren hardly has to stretch his thesping talents in a film which could just as easily have been home to Jean-Claude Van Damme or Steven Seagal.

He plays former Russian commando-turned-mechanic Nick Cherenko, living a quiet life following the murder of his family by a mobster; luckily for him, a wealthy woman begs him to save her kidnapped daughter from the very same scumbag, allowing him to tool up with an unlikely bunch of mercenaries (led, oddly enough, by Chariots Of Fire's Ben Cross) to dispense some bone-crunching payback and impassively delivered quips.

Silly and improbable it may be, but it's also unpretentious, undernanding fun and boasts decent production values and a lot of bang for your

Star rating: ★★

ZOMBIES

(Momentum Pictures, 15, retail)

Beginning life as a vehicle for Texas Chainsaw Massacre director Tobe Hooper, this hybrid horror ended up in the less-than-reassuring hands of JS Cardone and has a hard time deciding what it wants to be.

The title is a bit misleading, although there is some gratuitous flesh-eating here and there, and the alternative Wicked Little Things feels a better fit for its story about children abandoned down a Pennsylvania mine in 1913 following a cave-in who return nightly to haunt the brooding woods and seek bloody revenge.

Most of the time the film seems to be straining for a slow-burning atmosphere (to which end it might have helped if the kids had been phantoms rather than pick-wielding cannibal corpses) but it seems to lose its nerve and wades in with a big slab of violence, and the end result is something that's ultimately neither moody nor violent enough to stand out at either end of the spectrum.

It does have its curiosities, not least of which is Ben Cross showing up in his second obscure genre film of the week (here he's a seemingly demented mountain man) and the pale-faced, panda-eyed zombie children look effectively creepy – well, they do until you see them all together, pouring through the misty woods in their matching period garb, at which point the urge to start chirping "Consider yourself at home, consider yourself one of the family ..." becomes overwhelming.

Star rating: ★★

THE ORPHANAGE

(Optimum Home Entertainment, 15, retail & rental)

Guillermo del Toro switches hats to play producer for this quietly effective Spanish ghost story, his input alongside that of director Juan Antonio Bayona resulting in an atmospheric and emotionally testing chiller which sits well alongside the former's The Devil's Backbone.

Laura returns to the now-abandoned orphanage in which she was raised, dreaming of reopening it as a home for disabled children; so far so good, until her seven-year-old son acquires an imaginary friend with a penchant for dark stories about the building's past and then abruptly vanishes.

Convinced the shades of the orphanage's former inhabitants have him, his mother embarks on a nerve-shredding quest to get him back.

Star rating: ★★★★

10,000 BC

(Warner Home Video, 12, retail & rental)

Even by the popcorn-light standards of director Roland (Independence Day, The Day After Tomorrow) Emmerich, this is a particularly moronic historical cut-up.

Following the usual fantasy film ploy of a warring tribe making off with the hero's love interest, a bunch of improbably buff, fashionably dreadlocked stone age men take off to rescue her and on the way encountering all manner of outsized CG prehistoric mammals.

It should fly by on rollicking pulp wings but seems weighted down by its own stupidity and a curious lethargy – even scenes of mammoths helping to build the pyramids somehow contrive to feel even less likely than Raquel Welch fighting off dinosaurs in a rabbit skin bikini in the far-superior One Million Years BC.

It's surely no accident that among the unconvincing creatures in the hero's way is a giant turkey.

WELCOME TO GOON ISLAND

XX Teens (album, Mute)

Although undoubtedly a valiant attempt to stick two crooked fingers up at convention, this debut from snotty Southend art student-types XX Teens doesn't always live up to its pretensions. Walking a fine line between shambolic brilliance and irritating pastiche frontman Rich Cash seems unable to recall whether his boyhood hero was Mark E Smith or Gary Glitter. That said, when the Teens get it right – like the swirling arthouse psychedelia of Sun Comes Up or guttersnipe punk anthem The Way We Were – they manage to create something so spectacularly ramshackle you can't help but fall in love with their sheer brass.

IF THIS IS LOVE

The Saturdays (single, Fascination)

Cheesy pop which even those with the cheesiest of taste are bound to find impossibly annoying, this is one of those records which makes you want to get up and throw it violently at a wall rather than head for the dance floor. That said, however, it will probably hit the top 20 for absolutely no better reason than because it's bound to appeal to a youngsters who sadly don't know better and who, unfortunately for the rest of us, account for the bulk of the record sales and downloads market in this country.

LEAVE OUT ALL THE REST

Linkin Park (single, Warner Brothers)

Like being thrown back to the release of every other song recorded by the American emoti-rockers, this track has more than a whiff of déjà vu about it, with a softly sung first few seconds launching into a plethora of screeching guitars and pneumatic drums. More worn than a pair of 501s but, sadly, not guite as cool.

A WORLD OF FURNISHING IDEAS

We're all becoming increasingly style conscious and aware of trends but unfortunately we're also aware of the credit crunch biting!

modern examp

But with successful interior design shows on our TV's and lots of trendy magazines available there is plenty of inspiration to get high style looks at affordable prices.

Over the years, modern furniture has become popular with trends introducing a clean and clutter-free environment in our homes

Modern living spaces also mean that we are no longer confined to conventional rooms with a number of different activities now combined into one space. With flexible living and open spaces leading the way, furniture is now designed to meet these modern living demands and help create modern

Keeping the look simple is the key to success as you don't have to go all out or try to live in a space where you are frightened to sit down and spoil the décor! A few simple changes can make a huge difference in a room.

For a modern dining area have a look at Genoa, a high quality extending glass top dining table with leather dining chairs. This style of furniture is simple and focuses the eye on the quality of the design, rather than decorative features and heavy patterns.

With a simplistic style décor you can either opt for neutral surroundings or be brave with bright colours. If you do decide to keep the overall look neutral then introduce plenty of texture and interest with touchy fabrics and natural accessories such as a suede cushion and hand carved wood.

Choose from sexy leather beds and unique sofas, the Oasis sofa is available in a trendy orange textured fabric and will match any modern neutral home.

If you're brave Fishpools stock a great range of modern and contemporary furniture whether you want chrome, glass or wood.

Modern style is easy to live with and can be suited to any room. A room can be transformed with one simple piece of furniture or given a full makeover with accessories and flooring to complete the modern look.

Fishpools has everything you could need to create that a modern and contemporary look whether you have a trendy cool loft apartment or a beautifully restored Victorian terraced house

Renault's white-hot hatch

ENAULT has some form when it comes to hot hatches. Pick virtually any year in the modern era of performance cars and you'll find a Renault challenging for honours in the pocket rocket class.

From the Renault 5 Turbo 2, through the 5 GT Turbo, Clio 16v and Clio Williams to the modern Clio 197, Renault has always been there or thereabouts.

The problem it had was that while the smaller cars were fantastic, whenever the French company tried to make a slightly larger sports model it fell flat on its face. Anyone remember the Renault Fuego Turbo or the 18 Turbo? Ugh. It was only with the Renault 19 16v that some sort of form line appeared, and the latest Megane Renaultsport models see the French company at the very top of the pile for the very first time in this sector. It took the market a while to catch on to quite how good these cars are, but for the committed enthusiast there really is very little option but Renault. First off, it's probably best to run through the Megane Renaultsport team sheet. First up are the most modest versions, the dCi175 diesels, available in either three-or five-door form, standard or Lux. Then there's the three-door 225 Cup Sport Hatch and the hardcore 230 F1 Team R26, and, at the top of the range, either three- or five-door 225 Lux models.

The diesels will get to 60mph in 8 seconds on the way to a 137mph top speed. Think of them as Renaultsport's gentle introduction.

If you're intent on leaping in at the deep end, go for one of the 225 models. The power delivery is smooth with the maximum swell of torque hitting the road at 3,000rpm and the full power arriving at 5,500rpm. 60mph comes and goes in 6.5 seconds.

For the full-on hit, go for the F1 Team R26 edition and accept no substitute. Its clever differential gives it incredible front-end grip and that 230bhp engine catapults it out of corners like you wouldn't believe. It'll notch off the sprint to 60mph in just 6.2 seconds and rides on a stiffer chassis with beefier brakes. One to go supercar hunting with, in other words.

One of the most appealing things about the Megane Renaultsport range is that despite being graded from warm or hot to incandescent, all models, whether three- or fivedoor, retain a respectable level of practicality. You'll get adults in the back and a decent amount of luggage in the boot.

While being rapid cross-country transport, these cars rarely draw attention to themselves unless you're the extrovert who opted for a Liquid Yellow F1 Team R27 with the graphics across the roof.

the graphics across the roof. Build quality appears good. We ran a 225 Cup for some time and, despite being treated to an appalling leathering on track on a regular basis, it still felt as tight as a drumskin when we handed it back to Renault. The design is neat without being gratuitously radical, but the real revelation is the great strides forward made in terms of quality of materials and finish. It's almost as if a Renault designer's company hack was rear-ended and he got an Audi courtesy car for the week.

Soft feel plastics, quality fabrics and a cohesive design philosophy mean a not-so-fond farewell to old-school Renault interiors, many of which were built with the visual drama and structural integrity of a film set. Some have groused about the Megane's styling, but that 'bubble butt' look has worn in well and the wheel and spoiler kits fitted to these models aren't overly in your face.

in your face.
Prices kick off at £18,950 for a dCi 175 Sport Hatch (Renaultspeak for three-door) with the Lux model tacking £1,400 onto that price. The entry-level car comes with 17-inch alloy wheels, cruise control, grey cloth upholstery, ESP stability control and leather trim for the gearknob and wheel. Lux specification includes 18-inch rims, an uprated stereo, climate control, leather upholstery, metallic paint and a hands-free Renault key card.
The 225 Cup Sport Hatch is priced at £18,960 and this features a stiffer chassis, beefier brakes and sharper steering. Pay another £900 and you get the jewel in the Megane Renaultsport firmament, the 230 F1 Team R26, with its bucket seats and anthracite 18-inch

The most intriguing inclusion on

Renault Megane Renaultsport range

the R26 Megane is that of a limited slip differential to help it deploy all that power through the front wheels. The differential can divert torque away from a wheel that's losing traction so that the chance of wheelspin is lessened and forward progress is better maintained.

The car is available in the Liquid Yellow metallic paint which once graced the bodywork of the Clio Renaultsport V6. Many will find this car a little too rabid for everyday use and will instead prefer the 225 Lux models in either three- or five-door form, priced at £19,860 and £20,360 respectively. Although the upfront prices seem quite beguiling when compared to something like a Golf GTI, it's worth bearing in mind that if you buy a Megane Renaulsport model it is overwhelmingly likely that you will drive it as if you get bonus points for keeping the throttle mashed to the bulkhead for as long as possible. Even the comparatively sensible dCi175 diesel model rewards press-on driving. This will mean that even the diesel's 43.5mpg combined fuel economy figure will be tough to replicate. Even harder will be trying to get close to the 33.2mpg published figure for the petrol

The good news is that the cat is now truly out of the bag and performance enthusiasts everywhere know that these cars are the real deal. The upshot of that is that residual values, which were initially very weak, have firmed up nicely as used examples that haven't been too badly abused become increasingly sought after. Insurance for the petrol cars is rated at Group 17. It sounds a lot, but viewed in the light of the ability these cars possess, take it from me, it's a bargain.

Hot hatches should be about handling, handling and yet more handling. Virtually everything else is just trimming. Having watched a Ferrari 360 Modena fall off the Sparacetrack trying to stick with my Megane Renaultsport 225, there's little doubt that this car has what it takes. Factor in some very good engines and you have the required ingredients for a future hall of famer.

The dCi diesel models represent an interesting first step and make sensible real world choices, but just on occasion it's worth volunteering for the full-on experience and for that you need to be pouring unleaded down your Megane Renaultsport's neck.

Forget about the Volkswagen Golf GTI, the Ford Focus ST or the SEAT Leon Cupra — hot hatches come no more pugnacious than the Megane. It's always up for a ruck. The question remains: are you?

GARDENS GALORE!

HEDGES can also work wonders sectioning off areas so there's a surprise around every corner.

Of course, the effect that hedging can create largely depends on its maintenance and if you have a privet or other fast-growing hedge, such as the evergreen honeysuckle Lonicera nitida, it will probably now need a trim

Conifer hedges, including the notoriously fast-growing leylandii, which grows impossibly tall if left unchecked, are excellent hedging plants if they are regularly trimmed plants in they are regularly tillimined.

You may have to clip conifer hedges three times during the summer, with the last in late summer, clipping to the desired shape and stopping the leading shoot at the desired height.

Box and vew can be given a second trim in late August or early September If you are trimming a formal hedge, stretch a level string between n you are trimining a rorman nedge, stretch a level string between two upright posts as a guide to height.

Be aware that falling off a ladder is the most common gardening accident, so if the hedge is taller than shoulder height, you'll need a sturdy stepladder and preferably someone to hold it for you while you trim

Alternatively, you could invest in a proper hedge-clipping platform Attendatively, you could mive a map proper leady clipping producing to stand on. Make sure you don't trip over any loose cable flyou're using electric hedge clippers.

Start clipping at one end, starting at the base and working your way up, covering about 1m (3ft) at a time. Leave the top until last, which makes it easier to get it completely level. Try to make the sides slope in slightly, so the base is slightly wider at the bottom, to avoid creating shade that kills the base of the plant.

When you reach the end of the hedge, remove the template, posts and string, trim the ends of the hedge neatly and tidy up any bits you may have missed. If you want to shape your hedge at the top you can make a shaping frame or template from a piece of plywood, which is especially useful when shaping a hedge in its early years. Place it over the hedge and cut following the lines of the template, moving along the hedge as

FARLY AUGUST JOBS

♣ Plant autumn-flowering bulbs such as Amaryllis belladonna and autumn crocuses.

* Harvest seeds, as many seedheads will be ripe for gathering, but choose a dry day as seed may become mildewed if stored damp Rejuvenate straggly pansies and petunias by cutting them right back to the bushier growth at the base and feed and water well. * Damp down borders at least once a day in warm weather.

Essex County Council 🚍

(HOBBS CROSS ROAD, HARLOW) (TEMPORARY PROHIBITION OF USE) ORDER 2008

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Essex County Council has made the above Order under Section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.
EFFECT OF THE ORDER: To temporarily close a section of footpath on Hobbs Cross Road, in the District of Harlow for an approximate length of 102 metres (full width) outside Churchgate Primary School, on the school side of the road including school entrance. The closure will where possible be phased either side of the current zebra crossing to maintain its use The closure is scheduled to commence on 28 July 2008 for 10 weeks or where appropriate signs are showing and weather permitting.

The closure is required for the safety of the public and workforce whilst works to reconstruct the school boundary wall is undertaken.

The alternative route will be via the footpath on the opposite side of the road, on the far side of the brook fronting No.'s 1 to 12 Burnside Terrace, Hobbs Cross Road. Access will be maintained for emergency a service vehicles, residents and visitors all times during the closure.

The Order will come into effect on 28 July 2008 and may continue in for 18 months or until the works have been completed,

Strong batting drives Harlow to an away win

Harlow Town 249-3, Essendon

Harlow Town won by 34 runs Lords International Herts and Essex Cricket League div three

A STRONG batting display provided the springboard for league leaders Harlow Town's victory at Essendon.

The visitors were given a swift start with Karl Seecharan, making a typically assertive 30.

This preceded a second wicket stand of 124 between Ramaya Uphadyay (68) and Pay Yates who put on 124 before the latter fell for 70.

Yates went on to make 48 while Ashley Alderson chipped in with a quick 30 as the Hertfordshire team were set a target of 250.

In reply, Essendon slipped to 106-6 before resistance from Dan Pickard (47) and Simon Kelly (53) put the hosts in with a chance of victory.

However, after they were split wickets fell quickly and Uphadyay took 3-31 as Essendon fell more than 30 short.

Alderson also claimed 3-37 while Stort conceded 48 extras.

In the same division, Potter Street In the same division, Potter Street (164) lost by 12 runs to South Loughton II (176). Harlow Town seconds (110, Tom Ryder 5-38) lost by 63 runs against by 63 runs against Bishops Stortford IV (173-6) and in division seven, Harlow Town IIIs (93) lost to Albury (94-3) by cores violetes.

Mark Hall defeat in Stort Trophy

MARK Hall lost the Stort Trophy Final by nine wickets to Hoddesdon School John Warner.

The First Avenue team batted first in last Wednesday's match at Harlow Town Cricket Club and were bowled out for 69

Daniel Baldwin (17) and Reece Francis (22) shared the only significant stand of the innings putting on 47.

In reply, George Blemkin and Daniel Knifton put on 30 before the latter was run out. Blemkin (25 not out) and Ben Spencer (13 not out) then guided Warner (73-1) to victory with five overs to spare.

Terry's achievements win recognition

A FOOTBALL enthusiast from Harlow had reason to celebrate after his service to the game was recognised by the Essex County FA.

Terry Rattley (53) received an outstanding achievement award at a presentation evening on Thursday in Chelmsford.

Rattley was nominated by the committee of the Harlow and District Football League last year for an Outstanding Achievement Award.

His prize recognised the 45 years of service. This includes time he has given as an officer for the Harlow Recreational League and to the Harlow and District Football League and "I am extremely proud to see that sport and loyalty to it, is still recognised in Harlow. I am proud to receive this award," he said.

"I wish to express my sincere gratitude to the staff and committee of the Harlow and District Football League.

Rattley, who started playing football at eight and finished at 50, officiates in various leagues. These include the Essex Senior League, Essex Olympian Intermediate Football league as well as the Bishon's Stortford and District League and the Harlow and District Football

Smallbone is a silver medalist at international

A YOUNG martial arts player from Harlow claimed a silver medal in the UTF British International Taekwondo championships.

John Smallbone won three contests before he was runner-up in the middleweight division (U-79kg) at Marylebone in London. The 19-year-old also took a silver medal in the Southern Regional Championships at Bournemouth last month.

Last year he won the British ITF (International Taekwondo Championships) at Nottingham in the middleweight category.

LEADING THE ATTACK: Harlow put Southend's under pressure (photo: CR4NY7ZR/00)

THERE was no sign of rustiness as the Hawks opened their pre-season campaign with a fluent display against a youthful Southend United side, writes David Rimmer.
Southend's team was an U-19

one and they showed flair before running out of ideas in the second half at Barrows Farm on Saturday.

The hosts played compactly and debutant striker Jamie Richards showed resourcefulness and an ability of the striker Jamie Richards Shown ty to harry defenders. Shaun Gliddon, who operated mainly on the left-hand side of midfield, was creative and showed maturity.

Gliddon started Harlow's first notable move on eight minutes. It resulted in James Bunn crossing and Richards' header being stopped by the flailing legs of visitors' keeper Clarke Masters.

Subsequent goalmouth action saw Hawks' keeper save well from a Rhys Henry free-kick on 14 minutes, shortly before James Bunn seized a loose ball from a home corner but fired wide.

The deadlock was broken on 33 minutes. A deep ball from the right by Mark Taylor resulted in Bunn nipping behind defender Gordon Rieck and volleying left-footed past a stat-uesque Masters.

Harlow Town 2. Southend United XI O Friendly

Friendlies can lose all meaning when both sides make substitutions at half-time and in the second half, but it didn't apply this time.

Harlow kept their purpose and doubled their lead on 73 minutes.

A visitors' goal kick was headed forward by Hawks player/boss Ryan Kirby and triallist Chris Groves latched onto the loose ball and held off a defender before shooting in at the near post.

the near post.

A minute later, Hawks sub-keeper Michael Dumoulin saved well to keep out a shot from Ade Osifuwa and the hosts calmly played out the game.

Kirby said: "We have been training well but you do not know how it will go in match. I was pleased with how it went. Jamie Richards really put himself out and put them under pres-

. Ward takes over from Mark Wells after the latter stepped down following the end of last season.

Epping narrowly avoided relegation from the senior premier division of the Essex Intermediate Football League at the end of the 2007/08 seaward, who had a two-month spell in charge of Essex Senior Club London APSA before quitting, said: "We have had a couple of ses-sions. I will be looking to bring in new players and strengthen in all areas."

Epping get worst of wicket in home loss

EPPING had the worst of the wicket as they slipped to a five-wicket home defeat at the hands of Billericay in the third division of the Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League.

The hosts lost the toss and none of their batsmen passed 40 as they struggled to 148 all out on Saturday.

P. Roy (31) and Inzie Hassan (27) were the home batsmen who put up most resistance.

Terry Preston took two wickets but the visitors took advantage of an easing wicket and lost only five themselves in passing the home

Meanwhile, Sawbridge-worth (205-8, Phil Marshall) were undone by a fantastic unbeaten century from Shahzad Malik when they lost by eight wickets at home to Langleybury (208-2).

to Langleybury (208-2).

Malik hit the bowling to all parts of the ground in making 110 not out.

It was the turn of Sawbridgeworth skipper Danny Wilson to take centre stage when he scored 129 not out when the Town Fields side (220-1, Steve Ashman 58) overcame Bishop's Stortford (219) by nine wickets at home in the nine wickets at home in the second round of the Herts County Cup on Sunday.

Harlow's promotion hopes hanging by a thread

Loughton 139-3

(Harlow lost by seven wickets)

Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League, division two

THE chances of Harlow going up received a massive blow when they lost heavily to promotion hopefuls Loughton at home.

Saturday's defeat at Marigolds has left Harlow in third spot, 22 points behind second placed Loughton. If they harbour any hopes of staying in contention they must win at Fives and Heronians this weekend.

Visiting skipper Mike Hughes won the toss and invited the hosts to bat on a damp pitch at the Marigolds. Stuart Greenhill trapped Nick Butler leg before and soon after Kelby Pickering dismissed skipper James Butler the same way for five to leave Harlow on 21-2. Nilesh Odedra and Haroon Khan took the score to 64 before David Kilbey-Brown had the latter caught in the gully for 29.

Odedra then fell to Pickering for 22 and young leg spinner Gareth James junior accounted for Simon Baulcomb (9) and Zap Nazir (4).

After Harlow slipped to 109-8 Luke Heskett battled to 21 not out, but two run-outs ended the innings on 138 in less

Pickering (4-53) finished with the best figures of the visiting bowlers.

Loughton's opening pairing of Ritchie Bann and Gareth James senior added 76 confidently although James Butler used his bowlers well.

Nick Butler had James taken by Nino Calvino for 56 in 69 balls and trapped Bann leg before with a low full toss.

However, Mike Hughes and Usman Jan dealt entirely in boundaries in guiding the visitors home. Hughes hit four fours and a six while Jan notched up six fours and a six in an unbeaten 30.

Afterwards, Butler said: "Loughton were the better side by some distance, batted well and bowled well. There are no excuses really, we were just outplayed by probably the best side in the division the division

'Fives and Heronians this Saturday is another very difficult test but we'll give it our best.

Hawks up for Barnet battle

Harlow Town 1, Barnet 4 (friendly)

THE scoreline reflected the extra ability and fitness Barnet have but Harlow could take positives out of Tuesday's clash, writes David Rimmer.

Barnet fielded almost the whole side that had narrowly lost to an Arsenal team three days earlier and the Hawks responded to the challenge.

Central defender Danny Chapman scored an excellent goal while keeper James Hasell made outstanding saves to deny Cliff Akurang and Adam Birchall after the visitors had taken the lead.

Harlow used eight substitutes, Hasell one of seven players to be replaced on 55 minutes with Kevin Warren coming on later in the Barnet went ahead after eight minutes, Adam Birchall slotting home a penalty after Danny Green was adjudged to have handled in the box.

Harlow equalised in the middle of a good period on 34 minutes. A corner was played short to Mark Taylor whose cross from the right was headed home by Chapman.

The visitors restored their lead two minutes before the break when Albert Adomah volleyed home a rebound after Hasell had blocked a shot from Birchall. There was still time before the break for

James Bunn to have a header cleared off the visitors line and a shot tipped over by Barnet keeper Rob Beckwith
The visitors maintained the edge after half time and increased their advantage on 69 minutes when a through ball found Luke Medley who rounded substitute keeper Michael Dumoulin and fired home from an acute angle. Then, on the brink of full time, a 35-yard shot from Danny Hart proved unstoppable.

Harlow manager Ryan Kirby said: "The main difference was that they were fitter and stronger but we did not get pulled apart. "We showed what we could do in the second part of the first half and the Danny

Chapman goal would please any manager.'

HARLOW TOWN: Hasell, Taylor, Gliddon,

Richards, Bunn (c), Green. Subs used: Warren, Baker, Tague, Groves, Gasper, Williams, Dumoulin, Gliddon.
